SOKWOO RHEE

Co-Founder and Chief Technology Officer Millennial Net, Inc.

Co-founder and CTO of Millennial Net, Sokwoo has unique interdisciplinary expertise in wireless sensor communication and industrial and biomedical instrumentation. He developed breakthrough design for ultra-low-power wireless communication circuitry and power-efficient ad hoc networking protocol which make up the core of Millennial's wireless mesh networking systems (MeshScape). Prior to co-founding Millennial Net, he was a research associate at MIT working on wireless biomedical instrumentation. He was selected as one of top 100 young innovators (TR 2004) and as an innovator of the year by Red Herring. He received 2004 Douglas H. Annin Award from ISA. He has published numerous papers and holds several patents on wireless networks and biomedical instrumentation. Sokwoo holds MS and PhD in engineering from MIT.
